

PRIESTFIELD PARISH CHURCH

ORGANIST

Priestfield Church is located on Dalkeith Road, Edinburgh not far from the Commonwealth Pool. We have a membership of 100 and our Sunday morning worship post COVID is around 50 people. We are an out-going and welcoming congregation.

We now have a vacancy for a Church Organist and we are keen to hear from organists who might be interested in applying for the post.

Our organ is a two manual electronic Allen and we also use a Roland digital keyboard.

In 'normal' times, prior to COVID, our small but committed Choir with an able and encouraging Leader, with our Organist, contributed live music in our worship services.

The main duties of the Organist were:
Sunday services at 10.30am,
Choir practices (September to May/June) - weekly on Thursday evenings and prior to Sunday morning services.

With the introduction of COVID restrictions and lockdowns we moved to recorded services and then live streaming. From day one the organist and choir members have continued to play a central role in leading our worship.

As restrictions are relaxed we hope to return to our former position with live playing and singing contributing to our worship.

While we would prefer to appoint an individual Church Organist we would be happy to discuss the possible appointment of 'job-share', part-time or flexible term applicants. Applications are also welcome from trainee or student organists and consideration will be given to providing assistance with training.

The salary is negotiable around the scales recommended by The Scottish Federation of Organists.
