

History of the Scottish Federation of Organists

by Donald T Maclagan

published 2018

Free to Edinburgh Society of Organists members

£2.50 post and packing, sent by 2nd Class Royal Mail.

Over a year of research and compilation has resulted in this remarkable history of the Scottish Federation of Organists. Founded in 1956 the SFO and the affiliated local organists' societies remain the only charitable bodies to encourage and represent the organists of Scotland no matter where in the country they work and no matter whether they play in one of the major city cathedrals or in one of the hundreds of small rural churches.

Delivered 4 weeks ahead of schedule by our superb printer,

Groverprint & Design of Newtonmore, this 95 page A4 paperback with full colour illustrations "coffee-table" book is now available.

Dr John P. Kitchen, M.A., B.Mus, Ph.D., FR.C.O., L.R.A.M., Edinburgh City Organist, Honorary Fellow of the Reid School of Music, University of Edinburgh, Director of Music, Old Saint Paul's Episcopal Church, Edinburgh has described this work as "a fascinating read" and "an essential Christmas Stocking filler".

ESO members are invited to claim a free copy from Donald Maclagan – you are only respectfully asked to pay the £2.50 cost of post and packing. If you use PayPal please contact me by email on publications@scotsorgan.org.uk, by post at 1 Victoria Court, Kingussie, Highlands, PH21 1HZ, or by phone on 01540 662431. I shall then send you a PayPal invoice. I am also happy to receive payment by bank electronic transfer to 83-16-48 10929018 or by cheque payable to Donald Maclagan.

Published and subsidised by the Edinburgh Society of Organists